

The story of two BECAME THE STORY OF MANY

ANNUAL REPORT 2022

WELCOME

THIS IS THE YEAR DR. DIXIE AND I DECIDED TO FORMALLY
'TELL THE STORY' OF THE ROSE.

This is the year Dr. Dixie and I decided to formally 'tell the story' of The Rose. We are using two methods: broadcasting a weekly podcast, "Let's Talk about Your Breasts," and filming a short documentary.

Dr. Dixie was my first guest and her reputation for saying outrageous things was on full display. I have heard her story hundreds of times, especially her early days of being pregnant, unmarried and kicked out of high school, and the number of times she applied for and was rejected by different medical schools. Dr. Dixie has such an irreverent way of telling her story that I still crack up with laughter listening to her.

I think you'll be captured by her story the good, the absurd and the successes, it's all there.

As each interview unfolded, I was enthralled by how our guests are the story of The Rose. To date, I have interviewed dozens of people, survivors, employees, donors and volunteers. Their stories are woven into the fabric of the life of The Rose. All have been a part of our history, and played a role in shaping our future. Their stories are what urged us on; made us stretch and reach for more.

Each guest has been so generous in sharing their personal experiences, their stories are so intimate, all pulled at my heartstrings as I listened in awe of their courage. I was astounded by what I didn't know about them. Some guests I have worked with for decades; others I have been interviewed with on television or radio shows many times; others are more than donors but good friends. Yet, they said something that I had never heard before, and even during Dr. Dixie's interview, I learned something new.

Long ago, The Rose ceased to be a story of two women on a mission and became a story of people facing real-life issues, some sad, some victorious, some in process, and all the hopes and dreams that are involved. Their stories and the people they represent are the true legacy of our work at The Rose.

As we approach our 37th year of serving the community, there's no better time to say thank you to all our donors, community partners, volunteers, patients and everyone else who makes The Rose possible.

I hope you'll join us each Thursday for a new episode.

The podcast debuted in March and the documentary is slated for summer.

Her STORY

Marisol has always been an advocate of self-care. By regularly performing breast self-exams, Marisol has caught growths in her breasts not once, but twice. It was during a routine exam at the age of 19 that she felt multiple lumps on both breasts. She contacted her doctor and was promptly scheduled for bilateral surgery to remove 16 fibroadenomas. Fortunately, none of the masses were malignant. However, five years later, the lump Marisol discovered during another routine exam would begin her journey with The Rose.

Marisol was only 24 years old when she felt the BB-sized lump. She was a single mom, attending college, and working part-time with no health insurance. Given her previous experience with fibroadenomas, she quickly contacted her doctor to discuss the lump. But since Marisol was young and there was no family history of breast cancer, her doctor suggested waiting several months to monitor the lump. Three months later, the BB-sized lump had grown to the size of a lemon. A mammogram was ordered and Marisol was given a preliminary diagnosis of cystosarcoma phyllodes, which is a very rare, fast-growing cancerous tumor. A costly surgery was recommended.

"I remember looking at my parents, I was so sad thinking, I don't want to go into debt myself. I don't want to be a burden on them...I knew they couldn't afford it," Marisol recalls. It was then that the doctor mentioned The Rose and asked Marisol to complete an application to determine whether she qualified for The Rose's breast health services.

"It was just a form, but it was the most important paper of my life," says Marisol. "I ended up qualifying...I was so grateful for that. It took a lot of stress from me. I didn't have to worry about my son or how I was going to buy food or clothes for him."

Aside from the financial support Marisol received, she was impressed with how efficiently The Rose managed patient schedules and the community of women taking care of other women who are in the midst of their own cancer journeys.

PATIENT STORY

"Breast cancer is not a death sentence if you catch it early," said Marisol. "That's why they say to do your mammograms every year. Do your self-exams every month. Take care of yourself. Be an advocate for yourself. Save your own life."

The unique support system at The Rose is what makes it so special. As Marisol says, "It's not just a non-profit. It's a family."

Since her initial diagnosis, Marisol has completed her education with a bachelor's degree in liberal arts from the University of St. Thomas in Houston and earned an MBA in Healthcare Management from the University of Phoenix. She is a proud wife and mother to four children. 2023 marks 18 years of survivorship for Marisol.

THE Pink FLEET

THIS YEAR WE ADD A FIFTH COACH TO OUR PINK FLEET CALLED EVA.

EXPANDING OUR SERVICES

Our mobile coaches are now a fleet of five! Through the generous support of an anonymous donor, The Rose can now serve even more women across Southeast Texas. Equipped with the latest in breast screening technology, we've affectionately nicknamed our fifth self-contained health coach, Eva.

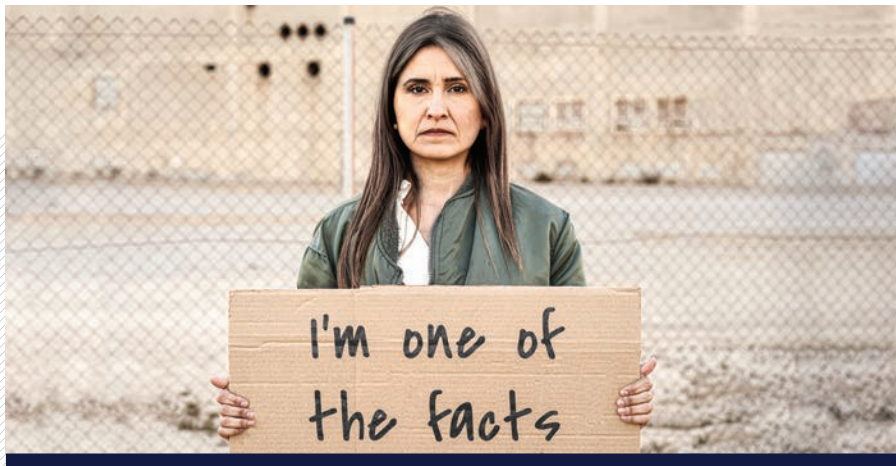

Last year, The Rose helped almost 9,000 patients in 43 counties through our mobile health program. Our mobile team has worked tirelessly to make breast health care as accessible as possible, meeting women where they live, work, and pray. With the addition of Eva, we have the opportunity to further expand our services to every woman in need.

Our Pink Fleet continues to make a difference, patient by patient, county by county.

THE FACTS

IN THE PAST 7 YEARS, 100% OF OUR WOMEN DIAGNOSED WITH STAGE 4 BREAST CANCER WERE UNINSURED.

26% INCREASE IN UNINSURED

We have had the privilege to touch so many lives because of your support over the years. At The Rose, we try to focus on what we can do. Still, the facts are daunting.

After 36 years, we know how breast cancer is impacting our community, your community. These are our facts.

Our facts continue to show the need for access to care, the need for The Rose.

This past year, we saw an unparalleled 26% increase in uninsured patients asking for help. We have not seen this type of increase in two decades.

For the seventh straight year in a row, we struggled with the discouraging statistic that only uninsured patients were diagnosed with Stage 4 breast cancer. Stage 4 is the most serious and life-threatening stage of breast cancer.

What is scary is how many young women have late-stage cancer, like the 46-year-old mother of three that came to us with a large mass in her breast that had already spread. She did not have insurance; she did not have a doctor... she did not know how to access care. And now, she has a tough road ahead of her.

60% of uninsured women will die from breast cancer compared to insured women.

How is that possible when medicine has never been better? Because access to care has never been worse. Access to care is still the largest factor in a woman's survival.

The facts are daunting. We can't stop cancer from happening. We can make a difference in whether a woman survives it.
